Everything Your Doctor Won't Tell You About Cannabinoids

It's not that your Doctor is trying to hide anything from you; it's just that Cannabinoids are not a subject that too many doctors are sharing with their patients, yet.

Doctor's, in conventional western medicine, often will treat symptoms before they take a look at the root cause of our body dis-eases.

Cannabinoids were discovered in the 1940's and have slowly bubbled up to the surface for the public to learn about and receive value from.

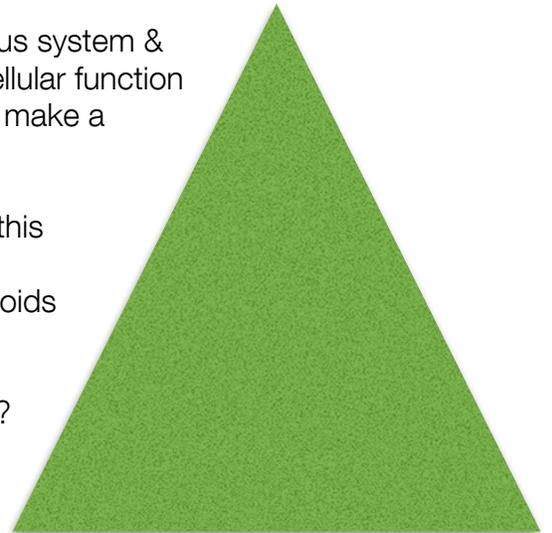

So fortunately even though the world of cannabinoids is a new concept to the public (most people) it is a subject that has been studied and researched for decades. And even the amount of time that cannabinoids have been analyzed and studied is dwarfed by how long cannabinoids have been an integral part of the making of life on earth.

As we begin to realize that cannabinoids are what help maintain homeostasis in the body we can begin to take back our health. Each of our body parts has its role, and we have the choice nowadays to assist our bodies as a whole organism. We can create powerful results.

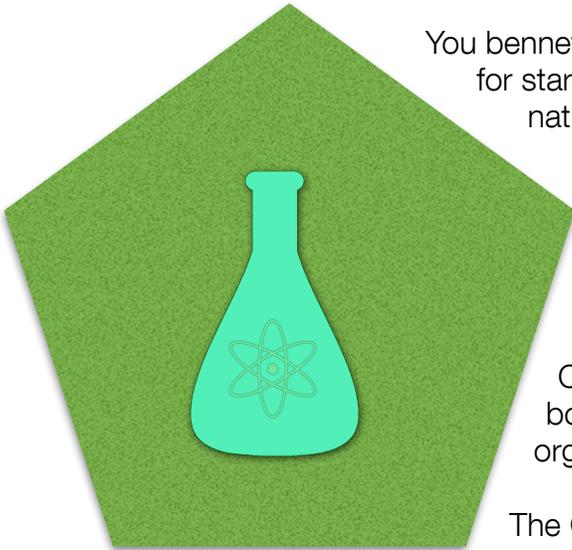

What if you could experience a cannabinoid rich brain, nervous system & immune system? Cannabinoids create harmony within the cellular function of the body and communicate with different receptor sites to make a seamless flow through out the body.

When your cells communicate they require cannabinoids for this process. When your cells are protecting themselves against invaders, bacteria, viruses and pathogens it needs cannabinoids to do that.

Your goal is to get to the root of your health challenges, right? Well what doctors will soon begin sharing with you across the globe is that if the body has a cannabinoid rich environment it can repair, regenerate and mend itself.

How much time do you devote to your health outside of your doctor visits?

You benefit from learning this outside of your Doctor's office? Well for starters you create an opportunity to experience health naturally, without medications.

As you may know, over 100,000 people die each year from prescription drugs. They are damaging your body, especially the liver, kidneys and poisoning the blood.

Cannabinoids are a simple, natural way to support your bodies health systems without damaging your vital organs. Let's take a look at the brain.

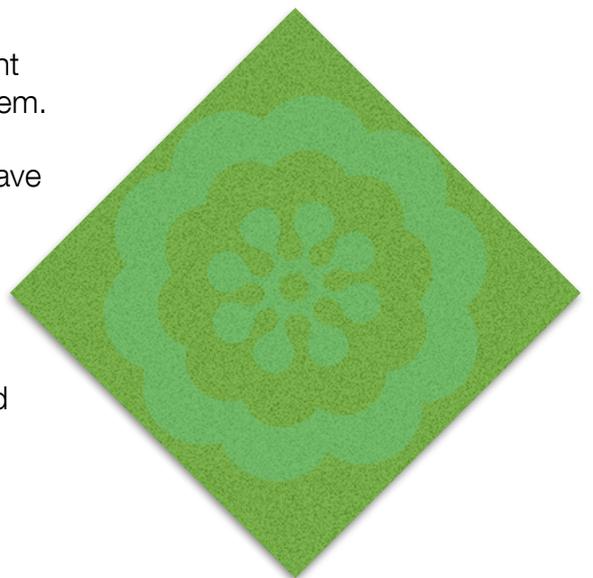

The CB1 receptors are a foundational part of your brain and nervous system. The brain functions extremely well when the CB1 and CB2 receptors in your brain are firing.

The Cannabinoids make this vital energy and mental power possible. In fact, studies have shown that when mice do not have a Cannabinoid rich brain they become very closed off, docile, and afraid of change.

The mice that did have Cannabinoids flowing through their brain are more able to bend and flow with life's challenges and changes. If Doctor's let us know something as simple as this we might have a lot more people walking the earth feeling more content, happy and going with the flow.

Studies show less fear and paranoia with the right amount of Cannabinoids circulating through out the nervous system. Within the nervous system these cannabinoids can bring about a sense of calm and emotional well being. If you have experienced Yoga or Meditation you know the feeling.

If not, it's time for you to experience this relaxed and focused space. Doctor's normally would prescribe a medication for something such as anxiety or paranoia. Instead what if you could supplement with a Cannabinoid extract that could optimize your health without compromising it. What if our Doctor's let us know that slowing the aging process by supplementing with Cannabinoids could give us that edge in our later years?

Doctors may not be sharing with us the key information that could assist us to make some informative decisions on our health. Cannabinoids have been shown to assist people with many auto immune diseases:

* Arthritis
* Diabetes

* Crohn's Disease
* Multiple Sclerosis

* Osteo Arthritis
* Immune Conditions

When we consume cannabinoids or when your body produces them internally they not only assist the body to regenerate and provide protection they really help to handle the immune stressors that we experience day to day.

When the load is taken off the immune system by balancing it using a natural Cannabinoid extract or living a healthy lifestyle we can give our body a better opportunity to restore itself. A lot of these diseases with the proper lifestyle adjustments could be relieved or reversed.

Alternative approaches to restoring the body's natural state is something that can and has been done through Natural and Alternative methods. Doing this safely and effectively we can experience a sense of well being without the side effects of drugs.

Drugs can and have been shown to cause some serious side effects. Drug companies even share these side effects during commercials and in the fine print of labels.

With something like a natural plant extract of Cannabinoids your body will recognize this as a safe and effective alternative causing no toxic effect to the organs. Supplementing with something like this could be beneficial to you or someone you may know suffering with a degenerative disease, auto-immune conditions or some other painful condition.

Health is all about cellular integrity. So of course water is essential and eating a balanced diet and doing things to cleanse and detoxify your body are all wonderful and amazing and essential keys to health and well being. To help accelerate the cleansing and healing process, adding Cannabinoids to the mix is an ancient key to unlocking the door of health and well-being! Become aware of what you put in your body and be sure to seek help from a health professional before implementing any health strategy.

Remember, it's up to you to decide, with the help of a professional if cannabinoids are right for you. We hope you enjoyed this report, please do go to the forum to interact with others about cannabinoids.
